Issue: 48, December 2025

Dear EBES Members,

As we conclude an inspiring and productive year for the Eurasia Business and Economics Society (EBES), we extend our deepest gratitude for your engagement and support. Your active participation as presenters, authors, referees, and attendees is the heart of our community's success.

In 2025, EBES organized four major international conferences in Lisbon, Rome, Istanbul, and Madrid — each serving as a vibrant forum for presenting rigorous research, exchanging ideas, and building scholarly networks across economics, business, and related disciplines. Together, these events brought together a total of 1.837 academic colleagues from around the world, reflecting the breadth and diversity of the EBES community.

We are also pleased to share important developments in our publication program. EBES's journals, Eurasian Business Review (EABR) and Eurasian Economic Review (EAER), have increased the number of papers published and will continue to do so in response to growing submissions and strong research quality. In addition, we are excited to announce that the submission fee for EABR has been removed, further supporting accessibility and encouraging wider participation from scholars globally.

Looking ahead, EBES will continue to strengthen its journals and governance. Updated editorial boards for both EABR and EAER are currently being finalized and will be communicated to our members in the near future. These updates reflect our ongoing commitment to academic excellence, diversity of expertise, and transparency.

EBES remains dedicated to fostering an inclusive and rigorous environment for scholarly exchange. We warmly invite you to stay actively involved by attending future conferences, submitting your research to our journals, and contributing to the peer-review process.

On behalf of the EBES Officers, we wish you and your loved ones a healthy, peaceful, and successful year ahead. We look forward to continuing our collaboration and shared pursuit of academic excellence.

With warm regards,
EBES Officers
